ABOUT JIMENA

Jimena Arroyo is a singer-songwriter, author and sworn translator from La Plata, Buenos Aires, Argentina. She first rose to national attention after winning a car on a TV singing competition in her country and has since built a career of more than a decade performing with a renowned local cover band at bars, theaters, resorts and on national television.

Her music has gained international recognition, earning nominations at the Nashville Universe Awards and the Josie Music Awards. She is also a three-time International Singer-Songwriters Association (ISSA) award winner: Best International Female Vocalist (Silver) in 2020 and 2021, and International Album of the Year (Gold) in 2022. Her original music is played on radio stations worldwide, while her covers have been praised and shared by artists such as Ann Wilson, Richard Marx, David Paich (Toto) and The Rasmus.

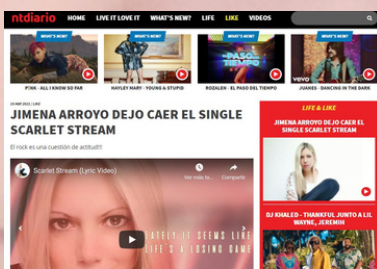

A graduate of the University of La Plata with a degree in English-Spanish translation, Jimena is also the author of seven published children's books. Three of her co-written songs with CJ Teffner appear in the soundtrack of the feature film Air Shift (2025)..
